The image shows a contemporary lounge or waiting area. In the foreground and middle ground, there are several plush, orange-colored leather armchairs with rounded backs. Interspersed among the chairs are small, round, dark-topped tables with metallic, reflective bases. The floor is covered with a dark carpet featuring thin, light-colored horizontal stripes. In the background, a large window allows natural light to enter, and a wall with vertical metallic slats is visible. The overall atmosphere is sophisticated and modern.

THE MARIS KITCHEN LINE FROM FRANKE: DESIGNED TO BRING FAMILIES TOGETHER, WHATEVER THEIR MAKE-UP

BRAND STORY

WE ARE FAMILY: THE MARIS LINE FROM FRANKE

'Make love like you're on camera', I read recently on a dating site. We're living in super-digital, high-definition times, where, it seems, we're expected to look the part constantly – even when engaged in the most intimate of activities that should just be about ourselves and how we feel. As if life weren't hard enough.

Cooking is certainly one of those daily rituals that also has that potential feel-good factor. It delivers on two fronts: it's a practical necessity, of course, but it also serves a social function, reinforcing bonds between family members and friends. In spite of the increasingly spectacular nature of food in the 21st century – think celebrity chefs and competitive Instagram images of boundary-pushing gastronomic creations – the joy of cooking, of togetherness, of taking pleasure in the here and now is, well, still here and now. And, thankfully, requires no cameras.

Leading kitchen manufacturer Franke's user-friendly and intuitive Maris product line has been developed specifically to help bring families together – however patchwork they and their lives might be – to rediscover the pleasure of preparing and enjoying food together. A uber-functional modular system, as flexible as the way its users increasingly live, Maris combines clean, yet friendly, aesthetics with reliable performance and easy operation.

Induction hobs with simple-swipe touch controls and pre-settings personalised to each individual user, easy-handling hoods, architectural taps, and pared-down sinks in stainless steel, Fragnerite (quartz sand in an acrylic resin) and Fraceram provide the planning building-blocks for a kitchen landscape that's no show-off, but, instead, part of the family. And, fittingly, it doesn't require the biggest of financial outlays.

FRANKE'S NEW MATT BRUSHED-STAINLESS-STEEL MARIS BOWL

But it's time to set another place at the table. There's a new addition to the Maris product line in the form of a range of ultra-rational bowls in matt brushed stainless steel, designed to dovetail perfectly with the existing collection's sleek formal language. Satisfyingly reduced (no integrated drainer means more work surface) and with the neatest of radii, the 13 differently sized models – from a compact 190mm to a generous 700mm – offer single and double-bowl variants.

BOTH SINGLE AND DOUBLE-BOWL VARIANTS ARE AVAILABLE

An optional recessed tap ledge allows further space-saving when planning, while a hidden overflow ensures optical purity. In short, this is one smart and durable product. No wonder, really, given the robustness of the company that makes it; it might surprise you to learn that this quality-driven Swiss brand has been in business for over 100 years...

Franke's definitely got it going on in the kitchen.

THE NEW TELA WALL COVERING: AN EASY-TO-INSTALL, STRETCHED-FABRIC SPATIAL SOLUTION

BRAND STORY

ANYTHING BUT SUPERFICIAL: INKIOSTRO BIANCO

Surface specialists Inkiostro Bianco are anything but superficial. Having established themselves in the market as go-to brand for expressive, space-defining flooring and wall decoration, this Italian-based company goes deep – both creatively and materially – offering interior architects and other specifiers a far more expansive, continuous and individual effect than traditional wallpaper.

Marrying collaborations with talented artists and designers with innovative production techniques, they've managed to create a unique collection of Made-in-Italy products that transform a room's surfaces, its margins, into something altogether more centre-stage.

Be the artwork from Inkiostro Bianco's extensive collection of designs or a custom graphic – the company offers a print-on-demand service across all of its products – the result is a surface that's a true architectural element. A host of contract projects internationally – hotels, restaurants and retail environments – have all specified Inkiostro Bianco to inject some identity into their spaces.

Stores in particular can benefit from Inkiostro Bianco's new Tela covering, which is ideal for pop-up or non-permanent stagings. A robust, polyester stretched fabric, its exclusive, 110-threads-per-inch weft composition can be digitally printed on, providing an easy-to-install and easy-to-change spatial solution for boutiques, showrooms and stands.

WATER-RESISTANT EQ.DEKOR FIBRE-GLASS FOR FLOORS AND WALLS

EQ.Dekor fibre-glass, meanwhile – a game-changing product borne out of a clever collaboration between Inkiostro Bianco and Mapei, the leading Italian adhesive and sealant manufacturer – makes graphically customised floor and wall coverings possible in high-traffic spaces that are also prone to splashes and spillages. Here, customisable decoration dovetails with high performance; extremely hard-wearing, EQ.Dekor comprises a special bidirectional fabric with a smooth, fibre-glass surface that's been treated with a polyurethane, alkali-resistant stiffener.

UNDICI: A SUPER-PRECISE, LASER-ENGRAVED PARQUET FAMILY

A further collaboration, this time with Listone Giordano, sees the arrival of Undici – a parquet that, thanks to Inkiostro Bianco's laser-engraving technology, provides exquisitely textured flooring (and wall panelling), which brings with it an air of hand-carving precision. The company takes Listone Giordano's premium raw product and amplifies its value by unlocking its textural potential: geometric lines and decorative patterns harness the grain of the wood to produce architecturally intriguing surfaces that truly get into the groove.

TOUCHÉ: INKIOSTRO BIANCO'S FULLY CUSTOMISABLE LASER-ENGRAVED PARQUET

And this April's edition of the Salone del Mobile sees the launch of two new products. The first, new wood wall surfaces designed by Aldo Cibic for Inkiostro Bianco and Listone Giordano, featuring geometric patterns and floral graphics, with a unique graphic effect. The second, something altogether more fluid – the Georgette curtain, a taffeta textile that does for windows what the Tela stretch-fabric range does for surfaces.

With Inkiostro Bianco's total, space-shaping collection, scratching the surface has never been more profound.

GAGGENAU'S REFRIGERATOR, FREEZER AND WINE CLIMATE CABINETS 400 SERIES FORM AN IMPOSING COOLING WALL

BRAND STORY

SO COOL IT'S HOT: GAGGENAU

Since its launch in March 2018, Gaggenau's new VARIO COOLING 400 SERIES has already garnered the coveted iF gold award for product design. Once again Germany's leading brand of professional-grade domestic appliances has found the balance between clean-lined design and advanced technology. Inspired by imposing architecture, this beautifully pared-down range offers fully integrated, built-in and modular fridges, freezers, fridge-freezers and wine climate cabinets.

For Gaggenau, the range represents a significant step forward. 'Our new range is more sophisticated yet subtly warmer, with elements that speak the visual language of the home,' says Lars Dinter, one of the range's designers. 'We also continue to build on our reputation for functionality, offering the private chef all the advantages of a professional kitchen, for example, the improved freshness systems.'

COMPLETE STAINLESS STEEL INTERIOR AND DARK ANTHRACITE ANODISED ALUMINIUM ELEMENTS

With handleless doors, furniture fronted or made of stainless steel or glass (for wine climate cabinets), these appliances look their most impressive as an expansive cooling wall. Their assisted opening mechanism means a gentle push is all it takes to open them. 'The doors take the form of elegant panels, although there is an option for adding handles,' says Lars. The drawers have a soft self-closing mechanism. Even the ice and water dispenser in the doors automatically illuminate when approached.

Aesthetically, the interior of the new series includes luxurious details. Dark antracite anodised aluminium elements add richness to the stainless steel lining while etched glass panels 'have a very smooth, satinised finish, which almost feels like a textile,' enthuses Lars. 'Quality of touch is an important design consideration.'

IMPERCEPTIBLE CLEAR GLASS SHELVING AND SOLID ALUMINIUM DOOR RACKS

The interior of the wine climate cabinets too, have a seductively warm look. 'Instead of blond beech, we chose richer, more authentic oak, which recalls the oak barrels that wine is aged in,' Lars explains. Concealed telescopic rails allow these oak and aluminium bottle trays to fully extend, making access easier.

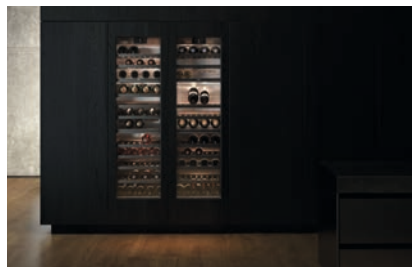

Gaggenau has also developed highly atmospheric lighting, namely glare-free LED spotlights with five pre-set options that cast a soft, warm glow, to better display a collection. 'When you're having dinner and the room is dimly lit, you are subconsciously aware of wine bottles enriching the atmosphere in the background,' says Lars.

FULLY EXTENDABLE BOTTLE TRAYS PROVIDE EASY ACCESS

Ultimately Gaggenau's product development is about progressive change: 'We don't introduce novelty for its own sake or to be part of a trend. Every advancement of the Vario cooling 400 series is part of a long-term, considered approach.'

Your imposing architectural statements aren't always made outside.

The difference is Gaggenau.

Grand architecture demands grand interior pieces. Refrigeration is one such design element and should speak to who you are. Every Gaggenau piece is distinctively designed, crafted from exceptional materials, offers professional performance, and has done so since 1683. Experience our statement pieces: Hall 9, booth A09.
